Dear Josh:

Thanks for the note I will be glad to have the culture and appreciate the references.

Now I have an appology to make. It seems that one of the cultures I gave you last winter is probably not a true Endomyces. Dr. Benham was not there at the time when I got out the cultures and I had assumed that they were as marked in the file, however, as she tells me now only the "filuliger" has been definitely proven to form asci and the other one, "albicans", is probably a Candida albicans. I hope this will not upset your work and I'm sorry that I did not know about it before. If you do not still have the "fibuliger" culture, I will be glad to send you another.

Best luck,

Lucille [GEORGE
